

I am writing you to with regard to the national telephone privacy policies that are being proposed. I signed up for Indiana's Telephone privacy list several months ago and it has been a WONDERFUL thing. I was getting approximately 10 phone calls a week during dinner time and that has almost completely stopped. This has had a tremendous impact on me and my family. I cherrish the dinner time with my wife and 5 kids and the constant interruptions durring dinner time were getting rediculous. In some cases we got as many as three phone calls in a given evening. The Indiana list has cut this down to almost zero and I am a strong advoctae of the program. PLEASE DON'T SCREW UP THE INDIANA LAW BY PREMPTING IT WITH A FEDERAL LAW OR REGULATION.

I understand that a Federal law is needed but I do not want the federal goverment to pe-empt the strict Indiana Law. If the proposal puts more restrictions on telemarketers or provides me a better way to take them to court, then that's great.

Thanks for considering my comments,
